

Disciplinary outcomes

In 2020/21, five disciplinary matters were concluded.

JUNE 2020

Dr. Charles James Marke Kamloops, BC

Dr. Marke engaged in professional misconduct of a sexual nature by failing to maintain the professional boundaries expected of a registrant. Approximately one month after professional treatment had been concluded and the professional relationship ended, he contacted a former patient for personal and social reasons. He invited her to his residence where they engaged in conversation of a personal nature, and sat on his couch where he kissed and hugged her. Dr. Marke was formally reprimanded and must complete a multi-disciplinary assessment program should he reapply for licensure with the College. Should he return to practice in British Columbia, he must participate in continuing medical education and professional development in the areas of ethics and professionalism, have no personal relationships with patients or former patients, and comply with any monitoring of his practice established by the College.

Dr. Salem Adnan Al Asousi Vancouver, BC

Dr. Al Asousi was found to have committed gross misconduct by the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland (RCPI) in July 2018 by providing false and misleading declarations about his training and prior registration history at the University of British Columbia. He revised a letter written by another physician without that physician's knowledge or consent and provided the letter to the RCPI on June 10, 2018 misrepresenting the letter had been written by the other physician. Dr. Al Asousi gave a written, irrevocable commitment to resign as a registrant of the College and never to reapply for registration with the College, and he was formally reprimanded.

Dr. Jeannine Olszewski Vancouver, BC

Dr. Olszewski engaged in unprofessional conduct by breaching conditions of her undertakings given to the College in February 2018, by failing to respond to requests for medical records in a timely manner in accordance with the standards set by the College and to the satisfaction of the College. Dr. Olszewski was transferred from the full – family class of registration to the conditional – disciplined class of registration, was formally reprimanded, paid a fine and costs totalling $8,000 and must comply with monitoring of her practice as required by the College.

NOVEMBER 2020

Dr. Bruce Taro Yoneda Victoria, BC

Dr. Yoneda engaged in unprofessional conduct by using sexualized language during a surgical consult with a pre-teen patient, namely, referring to her as a “loose woman,” telling her he would give her a “lube job” and not offering clear explanation prior to questioning the patient about her menstrual cycle. Dr. Yoneda was transferred to the conditional – disciplined class of registration, was formally reprimanded and fined $7,500. He must participate in a program regarding clinical communication approved by the College and attend the College's Professionalism in Medical Practice course.

Dr. David Eric Narvas Vancouver, BC

Dr. Narvas failed to respond to multiple communications from the College, contrary to section 4-11 of the Bylaws under the Health Professions Act. Dr. Narvas was transferred from the full – family class of registration to the conditional – disciplined class of registration, was formally reprimanded, provided an undertaking to respond to College communications within four weeks of a request for a response and ordered to pay $6,500 in costs to the College.
